To enforce anti-overloading law

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO – Gov. Dennis “Delta” Pineda ordered a two-week suspension of quarry operations in the province to give truck owners and haulers enough time to cut the sidings of their vehicles to prevent overloading.

Pineda said quarry associations agreed to comply with the 33-ton weight limit imposed by the NLEX Corp. on the Candaba Viaduct while it rehabilitates the nearly 50-year-old bridge.

“Magsasara muna po ang quarry sa Pampanga para bigyang daan ‘yung pagpuputol ng sidings ng

Urgent rehab of Manila North Road set

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO – The current state of dilapidation of stretches of the Manila North Road, better known as the MacArthur Highway, has risen to an even graver concern with the scheduled closure – for repairs – of the Candaba Viaduct of the North Luzon Expressway.

Pampanga 4th District Rep. Anna Bondoc-Sagum on Thursday said she has raised the concern with the Department of Public Works and Highways, even as she took to task the NLEX management for its alleged failure in maintenance of the expressway “despite the high toll exacted on motorists.”

“Kung magsasara po ang Candaba Viaduct, at sa current dilapidated state ng MacArthur Highway at Maharlika Highway, wala na pong dadaanan ang mga trucks containing essential goods and construction materials going to Metro Manila and Region IV-A,” she explained.

“Ito pong nangyaring earthquake did not help the situation. Ina-assess pa ngayon kung anong nangyari sa viaduct at kung magsara man ito at hindi pa maayos ang Manila North Road, mapuputol po ang supply ng pagkain at construction materials papuntang south,” the solon furthered.

Bondoc-Sagum cited as “very positive” her meeting with DPWH officials as P200 million has been allocated for the emergency repair of MacArthur Highway stretches in the towns of Apalit, Sto. Tomas, Minalin, and San Simon – all in her district.

“Dahil po sobrang emergent na ng situation, we’re not gonna wait for next year’s funding anymore. The Public Works is committing initially P200 million for Pampanga and another P100 million for Bulacan from their savings this year. As of now, ongoing na ‘yung repair,” she said.

The DPWH, she added, is committed to the total upgrading and reconstruction of the MacArthur Highway starting next year.

“Magtutuluy-tuloy ‘yan next

Daang Maharlika: Kalsada, tulay nilaparan, tinibayan

BALIWAG, BULACAN -- Nakumpleto na ang pagpapalapad at rehabilitasyon ng mga kalsada at tulay sa kabataan ng Daang Maharlika mula sa Tabang Cloverleaf sa Guiguinto hanggang sa San Miguel, Bulacan.

Ayon kay Department of Public Works and Highways Region 3 director Roseller Tolentino, makakabiyahe na nang mas mabilis at maaliwalas sa hilagang silangan ng lawigan sa pamamagitan nitong orihinal na ruta.

Bukod sa pagpapagawa ng mga bagong road networks, prayoridad din ng DPWH na panatilihin maaliwalas, ligtas at matibay ang mga dating daan na bumabaybay sa mga kabayanan.

Ang bahagi ng Daang Maharlika sa Bulacan ay nagsisimula sa Tabang Cloverleaf sa bukana ng North Luzon Expressway at nakadugtong sa Manila North Road sa Guiguinto.

Tinatahak nito ang mga magkakatabing mga bayan ng Plaridel, Pulilan, Baliwag, San Rafael, San Idefonso, at San Miguel. Nagsisilbi rin itong malaking farm-to-market road ng mga kalakal na gulay at palay na naaani sa bahaging ito ng Bulacan.

Apat na linya na ang bahagi ng Daang Maharlika sa Guiguinto partikular na ang mula sa Tabang Cloverleaf hanggang sa Sta. Rita Interchange ng NLEX na ginugulan ng nasa P100 million.

Isinailalim naman sa rehabilitasyon at pagpapalapad ang bahagi ng Plaridel hanggang sa Pulilan sa ilalim ng Road Upgrading and Preservation Project sa tulong ng P286 million mula sa Japan International Cooperation Agency.

Kasabay nito, isinailalim sa retrofitting ang dalawang linya na First Plaridel-Pulilan Bridge na bahagi ng Daang Maharlika na tumatawid sa Angat River. May halagang P46.8 million ang ginugol ng DPWH dito upang lalong mapatatag ang tulay na ipinagawapa ng mga Amerikano noong 1946.

Sinisimulan na rin ang pagpapatayo ng kakambal nitong tulay na magkakaroon ng karagdagan dalawang linya na may inisyal na halagang P97.6 million.

Kapag natapos ang proyekto sa 2023, magiging apat na linya na ang First Plaridel-Pulilan Bridge na kapantay ng pinalapad na Daang Maharlika.

Kinonkreto na ang bahagi ng Daang Maharlika na nalulubog sa baha mula sa Pulilan hanggang sa Baliwag kung saan may halagang P50 million ang inilaan.

Sabay ding nilaparan ang tulay ng National Irrigation Administration at tulay ng Cutcut na nasa bahaging ito ng Pulilan sa halagang P38.5 milyon na ngayoy apat na linya na.

Sa Baliwag, tinapos na ng DPWH ang pagpapalapad at rehabilitasyon ng Daang Maharlika na unang sinimulan noong 2008. Umabot sa P300 million ang panibagong pondo na ginugol sa bahaging ito ng highway na laging lumulundo.

Sa mahabang bahagi ng Daang Maharlika sa Bulacan mula sa bayan ng San Rafael na tumatahak sa San Idefonso hanggang San Miguel, nasa P1 billion na ang nagugol sa ginawang malawakang rehabilitasyon at pagpapalapad ng mga kalsada at tulay mula noong 2016.

Apat na linya na rin ang bahaging ito ng Daang Maharlika kaya’t pinalapad na rin ang mga tulay na nadadananan dito.

Katatapos lang

palaparin ang tulay ng Maasim sa San Idefonso na nilaanan ng P24.7 million at tulay ng Salakot sa San Miguel na nagkakahalaga ng P36 million.

Samantala, nau-nang nilaparan ang may 14 pang mga tulay sa Daang Maharlika mula sa San Rafael hanggang sa San Miguel. Kabilang dito ang Ulingao Bridge 1 at Ulingao Bridge 2 sa San Rafael; mga tulay ng Mag-Asawang Sapa, Anyatam 1, Anyatam 2, Marugay-rugay 1 at Marugay-rugay 2 sa San Idefonso; at ang mga nasa San Miguel na mga tulay ng Garlang, De Leon 1, De Leon 2, Tigpalas at Ilog Bakod 1. PIA-3

DPWH builds road leading to Abungan Falls

BALER, AURORA – The Department of Public Works and Highways built a 1.6-lane kilometer road leading to Abungan Falls in Dingalan, Aurora.

Implemented by Aurora District Engineering Office, the road located in Barangay Ibona “is ex-

Unique business concept, nature-inspired shopping mecca to rise at The Infinity

BY NING V. CORDERO

ANGELES CITY – AC Beautiful Island Realty Development Corp. (ACBI), the real estate arm of Jenra Group of Companies, hosted an open house and commercial spaces preview of its soon to rise project expansion The Shoppes Phase 2 inside its 40-hectare property in The Infinity, the premium central business district in the region.

Ruel Diaz, sales and documentation head of The Infinity, said ACBI's recent development, and following the success of The Shoppes Phase 1 which opened December 2019, The Shoppes Phase 2 is specifically developed to have a relaxed and nature-inspired ambiance, aiming to highlight unique local business concepts, support Kapampangans' innate entrepreneurial spirit, and level up tourism in Pampanga.

Set to highlight the commercial potential of Central Luzon, The Shoppes Phase 2 at The Infinity will soon excite with its distinctive offerings and good finds from a wide array of homegrown and national brands. It will house 39 commercial units and 12 kiosks.

“Pampanga shows very impressive progress, fueled by the robust growth of the region's emerging cities and special economic zones. Among the biggest contributor to this growth is the Clark Freeport Zone, which is considered to be the next economic haven of Luzon,” shared Diaz.

ACBI recognizes the limitless opportunities in the region as other real-estate developers have already located, their various projects dotting the landscape. Its very own flagship project traverses the cities of Angeles and Mabalacat in Pampanga. Master planned by Palafox Associates, The Infinity is a 40-hectare development that has started housing business, commercial, and all other dynamic features that will complete a robust and sustainable community.

The Shoppes Phase 2 started construction middle of this year and the first phase is projected to be fully operational by the 4th quarter of 2022, followed by the second phase in the 1st quarter of 2023.

Reprehensible distortion

"THE ATTEMPT to distort history is reprehensible. Depicting the nuns as playing mahjong with Cory Aquino is malicious. It would suggest that while the fate of the country was in peril, we could afford to leisurely play games."

Thus, members of the Order of the Carmelites based at the Carmelite Monastery in Barangay Mabolo, Cebu City decried the trailer of the propaganda film "Maid in Malacañang" showing the late President Corazon Aquino playing mahjong with a group of nuns inside their monastery at height of the People Power Revolt in February 1986.

In the statement released Aug.2, Sr. Mary Melanie Costillas made "... it be known that no one responsible for the production of the movie came to us to gather information on what really happened. Any serious scriptwriter or movie director could have shown such elementary diligence before making such movie."

She said that many of the nuns who were in the monastery when Aquino sought refuge in 1986 "are still very much alive and alert" one of whom she identified as the then-superior Sr. Mary Aimee Ataviado.

Contrary to what the movie depicted, Sr. Costillas said the nuns at the monastery were actually "praying, fasting and making other forms of sacrifices for peace in this country and for the people's choice to prevail."

"While in our prayer, we were constantly in fear that the military will come to know of the whereabouts of Ms. Cory Aquino and would soon be knocking at the monastery's door. We knew the dangers of allowing Ms. Aquino to hide in the monastery. But we also prayerfully discerned that the risk was worth it, as our contribution to put an end to a dictatorial regime," Sr. Costillas said.

"Indeed, we were ready to defend her at all cost," the nun added.

She noted that: "Over more than seven decades, Cebuanos have asked us to pray for their intentions. With the grace of God, we take this vocation to pray for and with the people in all seriousness. But the pictures would imply that while the country's fate was in the balance, we mindlessly were simply playing games. Thus, if these pictures would be taken as authentic representation of what really happened, they would put into doubt the trust that the people have placed in us."

In closing, Sr. Costilla pointed out that the Order of Carmelite in Cebu is praying for unity of Filipinos: "But this unity can only be built on truth and not on historical distortion."

The good sister be blessed!

Ah, to what depths of depravity their minions would descend just to whitewash the reprehensible Marcos legacy.

Forgotten fatherhood

"OUR 10th year certainly gave that intensity through various programs and activities that polarized the whole city. We can confidently say that our people can now feel that we do reside in a real city, that our entrepreneurs can say we do business in an intensified and competitive city."

So enthused Mayor Crisostomo Garbo at Mabalacat City's charter day testimonial banquet "graced by the presence of Laus Group of Companies matriarch Tess Laus in honor of Clark Development Corp. former president and champion of countryside development, the late Levy P. Laus."

The dear lamented LPL was singularly extolled "for leading the efforts in lobbying the passage of the RA 9400 or the "Clark Freeport Law" in both houses of Congress which gave rise to the allocation of the two percent gross income earned that now accrues to Mabalacat City with a yearly windfall of approximately P700 million." So, the CIO press release on the event read.

Swell, the lobbyist given all the credit, the legislators who crafted the law – not to mention the President who signed it into law – merited total anonymity.

And that "intensity...that polarized the whole city" -- easily taken as in the word's familiar meaning of "breaking up into opposing factions" rather than the lesser used "causing to vibrate." Anyways, "energized" would be more appropriate.

Semantics though is the least of our concern here.

Is there a deliberate move to rewrite the cityhood narrative of Mabalacat? What I first sensed four years ago, verbalized here last year, obtained again last week.

Paternity suit

"Father of Mabalacat cityhood." So declared the city council of once forever Mayor Marino "Boking" Morales in Resolution No. 392 dated July 23, 2018.

Even as it hailed his "many years of dedicated public service as local chief executive," the resolution topped Mayor Boking's celebratory cake thus: "Foremost among his outstanding achievements is the passage into law of RA 10164 in July 2012 which declared Mabalacat as component city of Pampanga."

So – rightfully – earning the honor of being father of the city. The highly prolific Mayor Boking thereby adding yet another child, so to speak, in his multitude of 21, as of last count.

The news story on the city fatherhood cited as backgrounder that:

On May 18, 2012, then President Benigno Aquino III approved House Bill 4736, an "Act Converting the Municipality of Mabalacat in the province of Pampanga into a Component City to be Known as Mabalacat City.

House Bill 4736 which became Republic Act 10164 was sponsored by Senator Ferdinand "Bongbong" Marcos Jr., chairman of the Senate Committee on Local Government...

No fake news, but there obtained one major lapse in the cityhood narrative. (Come to think of it: Whenever the Marcos name crops up, some historical rewriting pops out. Even if so unwittingly.)

No denying that Marcos Junior did indeed a yeoman's job at the Senate for the passage of RA 10164. But what good was that, what cityhood would even befit Mabalacat, without the spadework that was House Bill 2509 sponsored by then Pampanga 1st District Rep. Carmelo "Tarzan" Lazatin?

In July 2011 – a full year before the plebiscite that officially birthed Mabalacat City – we wrote here:

...And then there is consolidated House Bill 2509/4736 mandating cityhood for Mabalacat already nearing approval, so Sen. Ferdinand Marcos Jr., committee on local governments chair, himself is said to have declared.

Cong Tarzan, but of course, stands as the legitimate father of a Mabalacat City, having sown the very seed, incubated and nurtured the embryo which is soon a-borning.

No, I did not mean to question, much less disparage, Mayor Boking's fatherhood of Mabalacat City, officialized as it is by city council Resolution No. 392.

It is just that Cong Tarzan deserves his own rightful place in the cityhood history.

Indeed, in the euphoria that followed the plebiscite, Mayor Boking himself was profuse in his acclamation of Cong Tarzan as "father of Mabalacat City."

"By the grace of God and the sovereign will of the people, we are now a city" proclaimed tarpaulins all around Mabalacat at that time. Modesty be damned, I minted that phrase over café americano at Starbucks SM Clark with Mayor Boking and his then-most loyal lieutenant, double visionary Deng Pangilinan.

Delighted as he was with it, I remember the mayor asking how Cong Tarzan's name be incorporated in the tarps. Not wanting to disrupt the cadence in the phraseology, I suggested separate streamers thanking the Cong for his paternity of the city. Which, to my knowledge, were also posted.

As much a victory for the townspeople and Mayor Boking as a triumph for Cong Tarzan – given his being denigrated as chair of the comite de silencio at the House – was the cityhood of Mabalacat.

Ain't it long been clichéd that "Victory has many fathers...?"

Why make fatherhood of Mabalacat City then exclusive to Mayor Boking?

SO, I reprinted here last year.

This year, the city government addressed that issue of exclusivity of city fatherhood. No, not by including the names of the Cong Tarzan, Marcos Jr., and President Benigno S. Aquino III as sharing fathering honors. But by completely expunging all names in the celebrations.

"Mabalacat City became a third-class component city in the province of Pampanga in July 2012." So, the press release summed up the whole history of cityhood.

The simplicity – or is simple-mindedness more apt? – of that narrative belies what can be a deliberate intent at revisionism.

"Our city is known because of our innate goodness. We, the people of Mabalacat have so much goodness to offer, and the past five days are just a glimpse of the coming years." So, was Mayor Garbo quoted as saying during the celebratory banquet at SMX-Clark.

You need not be a conspiracy theorist to see something askance there. You don't even have to read between the lines.

"The past five years are just a glimpse of the coming years."

A new timeline for the cityhood of Mabalacat is officially set there: No, not in the old terms of BC and AD nor in the now preferred BCE and CE.

It's all GE – the Garbo Era in which "our people can now feel that we do reside in a real city." There, RA 10164 notwithstanding, Mabalacat was not a real city before Garbo's coming.

Alas, with MCG, Cong Tarzan is ancient history and Boking is bitter memory. The past be damned.

Shepherd's Call

Bishop Pablo Virgilio S. David

Conquering fear

THERE IS a bigger storm building up in the Gospel, bigger than the one that is happening in the Lake of Galilee. We are still in that same chapter of Matthew that began with the story of the execution of John the Baptist by beheading.

If Herod Antipas, the governor of Galilee, had succeeded in getting rid of the pesky prophet John, he would certainly be going after those who were closely associated with him. And among these, Jesus would surely be next in line.

These are critical times; and word had just been sent to Jesus about it. The most logical thing for Jesus to do in this hot political atmosphere is to chill down a little. Matthew tells us Jesus actually decided to withdraw in a boat to a secluded place but people followed him, bringing the sick to him. He didn't have the heart to dismiss them because they had come from faraway places by foot. So, he attended to them. Not only did he pray over them, he even gave them a big banquet from five loaves and two fish.

Our Gospel today is about what happens after that feeding story. It is quiet now. He has sent off his disciples to go ahead of him to the other side of the lake. He has already sent the crowd home; now he can finally be alone. And so instead of getting into the other boat that was prepared for him, he goes up to the mountain to have some solitude in prayer—both to grieve the loss of John, and to confront his fears over the political storm that has led to John's execution; he is fully aware that he could be next in line.

We have many fears ourselves. When confronted by them we become anxious. It is a normal thing to be worried or anxious, especially when we deal with our uncertainties such as during this time pandemic. But when we are already unable to sleep, when we cannot function normally anymore, when we turn paranoid or fall into depression, then we're already dealing with a mental health issue called an "anxiety disorder."

The Gospel tells us Jesus has a unique way of confronting his fears; he does it through prayer. (Remember he would also do it at the Garden of Gethsemane.) They say when we are threatened, we seek the company of others for support. So why does he want to be alone? Jesus seeks solitude in prayer, not to be alone, but precisely to be in the company of his Father in Heaven. It is through prayer that he is able to CONQUER FEAR. Why is prayer an effective way of dealing with our fears? Let me propose two answers: firstly, it enables us to see things as they are and how God is at work in them. Secondly, prayer enables us to see from God's perspective.

First: prayer enables us to see things as they are. Fear tends to exaggerate them; it makes us see ghosts. It tends to blow things up beyond proportion. Remember how terrified the Israelites were with Goliath? Their reaction was, "He is so big, how can we defeat him?" There's one author who suggests that when David saw Goliath, he said to himself, "He is so big; I cannot possibly miss my target."

Second: prayer nurtures faith, which helps us conquer our fears by changing our perspective. From the mountain experience, we begin to relativize our fears in the context of the larger horizon. Look at human inventions, they are mostly in response to our experiences of limit situations. People conquered their fear of the ocean by inventing boats, galleons, and steam ships. We conquered our fear of the wind by inventing airplanes and helicopters. Athletes conquer their fear of danger by developing gymnastic agility. How many performing artists have had to conquer their stage fright before they gained confidence to perform before an audience?

One little traumatic experience with an object or an insect can make a blind impress on our consciousness. We call them phobias, from the Greek word phobos, which means FEAR. Fear makes us unable to see a spider as a spider, or a snake as a hapless reptile that is as afraid of you as you are of it.

In the Gospel, Peter receives a mentoring in conquering his own fear. His companions see a ghost but he hears that it is Jesus. Instead of drawing away, he draws near by walking to his direction, on water, and is actually able to make a few baby steps. And all Jesus said was, Come!

Prayer is a response to Jesus' invitation to come to him, to learn from him to do as he does. You want to find rest, come and learn to be gentle and humble of heart. You want to conquer your fear of the storms of life, come to me. Stay focused! You are an image and likeness of the Great I AM who has power over creation. You are also a child of God. His assurance is, "if I can carry my cross, so can you; if I can walk on water, so can you. You have to have faith, not in yourself, but in the God who will work through you."

In prayer, Jesus invites you to think of yourself as a toddler who is being taught by his father to walk, or a little boy to ride on a bicycle, or to dive into a swimming pool, or to hold a bird gently in your hand. Sometimes, he tosses you up in the air like an infant. Instead of reacting in fear, he screams with delight, knowing that his father is down there waiting to catch him in his hands.

O nang dahil na rin sa kapwa natin d'yan Tagabalita na mali rin kung minsan ang paggamit n'yan ng salita't salaysay kung kaya nga't ito ang nakasanayan?

Ang salitang 'siya' ay para sa 'tao,' ang para sa 'bagay' o 'thing' dapat 'ito,' kaya ang masarap 'siya' ay di wasto kung para sa ulam ang tinutukoy mo.

Porac Bank joins Angeles reforestation program

ANGELES CITY – Porac Bank, one of the biggest homegrown banks in Central Luzon, recently joined the advocacy for the rehabilitation and development of the Angeles Watershed in Barangay Sapangbato here.

Porac Bank president and CEO Lourdes Connie C. Tayag led the signing of the memorandum of agreement for the Adopt-a-Watershed Reforestation Program (AWRP) on Aug. 3 at the Best Western Metro Clark in Balibago, this city.

The MOA was signed between Porac Bank, the AWRP implementor Abacan River and Angeles Watershed Advocacy Council, Inc. (ARAW-ACI), and the Aeta group Kapatirang Aetas ng Angeles-Porac para sa Kalikasan at Agrikultura (KAAPKA).

The AWRP is part of the Angeles Watershed Rehabilitation Initiatives (AWRI), a joint advocacy project of ARAW-ACI and the Angeles City LGU. AWRP is a sustainable reforestation program that ensures the survival of plants from initial life stage up to three years.

Under the AWRP, a sponsor like Porac Bank adopts one hectare or a bigger planting site inside the 527-hectare Angeles watershed, then provides funding for seedlings, fertilizers, and maintenance cost.

Porac Bank is the third private sector entity to formally adopt a planting site inside watershed. The pilot company that adopted two-hectares in November 2021 is Converge ICT Solutions, Inc., followed by the Pampanga Press Club Foundation, Inc. (PPCFI), which adopted one hectare last January.

Several private sector groups are also set to adopt more planting sites. ARAW-ACI is preparing the MOA signing for the De La Salle Alumni Association of Pampanga, Jocson College, and the Rotary Club Angeles Kuliati, Editha Arceo & Family, and the Balibago Waterworks System, Inc.

In a statement, Tayag said Porac Bank has taken sustainability footprints in support of their sustainable goals for the company. Prior to the AWRP, Porac Bank invested in solar power to reduce carbon footprint.

“As we now envision sustainable banking on all fronts, we seek to embed environmental and social sustainability principles in how we do banking. In 2021, Porac Bank firmed up its clean energy plan by investing in solar power. We have equipped our corporate center, head office and eight of our branches with solar panels. This step has made us a pioneer, if not the first solar-powered rural bank in the country. As a result, we have reduced our carbon footprint and started to save more on electricity consumption,” she said.

Tayag said their support to the reforestation program will not only strengthen their sustainable goals for the environment, but will also help the indigenous people in Barangay Sapangbato. The financial assistance extended to them for the maintenance of the planting sites is an alternative livelihood from traditional farming.

Meanwhile, Renato S. Tayag Jr., president of ARAW-ACI, expressed gratitude to Porac Bank and lauded the company for its active participation in the AWRP.

“This is a dream unfolding into reality. With the full support of the local government led by the honorable Mayor Carmelo Lazatin Jr., the AWRP continuously gained support from the private sector. More groups are joining the cause. We are advocating for water security in Angeles City and Metro Clark. And we thank Porac Bank for taking a big leap with us in this advocacy. This is for the benefit of Angelenos and the next generations to come,” he said.

Porac Bank is a closed family bank founded by Primo and Servillana David, Marciano Dizon, Mamerto De Mesa, Irmelo David, Vicente David, and Juan Cuyugan in 1968 to help the communities around Porac reach their financial goals.

Today, Porac Bank has expanded its branch network throughout the busiest and most progressive towns and cities of Pampanga and Tarlac including Angeles City, Mabalacat City, City of San Fernando, and the towns of Magalang, Porac, Arayat, Mexico, Floridablanca, Concepcion, Tarlac and Tarlac City. The bank offers traditional banking products like regular passbook savings, checking account, time deposit, and loans for commercial, consumption, housing, and agri/agra purposes.

Mayor bares plans for health, education sectors

GUAGUA, PAMPANGA -- Mayor Anthony Joseph Torres bared his plans for the health and education sectors under his first term as local chief executive here.

In an interview, Torres said that among his priorities is the creation of a dialysis center to provide free treatment to indigent Guaguaños.

“We want to give our poor constituents access to free dialysis. We know that PhilHealth is helping us, but patients have to still pay a little for their treatment. With this center, we want to somehow unburden them by reducing their family’s expenses,” he said.

The mayor added that the municipal government is also preparing so that when Universal Health Care is fully implemented, it can immediately comply with the requirements of the national government.

The rural health unit, he said, continues to vaccinate its residents against Covid-19: “As long as we have more vaccines, let’s avail them so that we can achieve herd immunity faster.”

In particular, he urged students as well as teachers to get vaccinated to ensure everyone’s safety in preparation for the implementation of face-to-face classes.

“We are likewise preparing hand washing facilities in schools for the use of students to avoid the spread of viruses. We assess facilities to make sure that there is proper ventilation. Also, we are doing maintenance and repairs of school facilities so that students will be safe from any kind of disaster,” the mayor said.

Torres cited the Guagua Community College, which he said is a big help to every student who wants to get a tertiary education with good and quality learning.

He also shared his plan to establish an integrated high school for students who will be taking secondary education but are residing in remote villages of the town.

“This integrated high school will be built in a clustered barangay and will serve at least five to six villages. Cliche as it may be, I always believe that the best help that we can give a family is providing their children with a good and quality education that they can use to build their future well,” he said.

Torres vowed to give the youth all the services they need to make them productive and empowered citizens, including programs aligned in sports, mental health, and their participation in good governance. PIA-3

FVR cited for contribution to seafarers

By ERNIE ESCONDE

BALANGA CITY -- Stella Maris-Philippines on Monday cited the contribution of former President Fidel V. Ramos to seafarers and their families and offered prayers for the repose of the soul of the late chief executive.

“It is with profound sadness that we heard of the demise of President Ramos. On behalf of the seafarers, their respective families, we offer prayers for his soul and condolences to the family,” said Bataan prelate Ruperto C. Santos, CBCP Bishop Promoter of Stella Maris-Philippines.

The bishop of the Diocese of Balanga said that chaplains of Stella Maris-Philippines, a Catholic ministry helping seafarers, will offer prayer masses for Ramos’ eternal rest and strength for his bereaved family.

Santos said seafarers and their families were blessed when Ramos, through Presidential Decree 1094 dated Sept. 3, 1997, declared the last Sunday of September as the National Seafarers’ Day (NSD).

The declaration, he said, stated that “The

AC jail inmates get Vit C, face masks from city hall

ANGELES CITY — The city government here conducted an information drive regarding the importance of nutrition and distributed Vitamin C supplements with face masks at the Angeles City District Jail.

Mayor Carmelo "Pogi" Lazatin, Jr. said this is to ensure the welfare of persons deprived of liberty, underscoring that even inmates should not be deprived of proper nutrition.

"Tuloy-tuloy po ang ginagawa nating tulong programa sa mga PDLs natin," Lazatin assured. "Yung mga female PDLs po natin noon may mga hygiene kit, nilapit din po natin ang bakuna kontra Covid-19 sa mga jails natin."

The city nutrition office headed by Jermaine Jam Aguila led the conduct of information drive and distribution.

According to Aguila, some of the agenda discussed during the information were "10 Kumainments and Pinggan Pinoy."

Aguila explained that the 10 Kumainments is a campaign to promote the Nutritional Guidelines for Filipinos and to live a healthy lifestyle, aiming to address and prevent the malnutrition. This, she said, is being supported by the Lazatin administration.

Aside from the initiative to look out for the welfare of PDLs, the city also launched the Pusong Mamon malunggay bread of the city. This healthy bread is being given to malnourished kids with milk supplement.

This program is Lazatin's way to complement the national government's feeding program.

Lazatin's chief adviser IC Calaguas and Executive Assistant IV Regina Manuel spearheaded the launching of these healthy buns last July.

Aguila said the CNO is in strict monitoring of the target kid beneficiaries of the project.

cination site according to Dobles.

Meanwhile, the DOH reported a total of 15,975,337 Filipinos were given the first booster shot as of July 26, 2022 while 1,232,816 individuals have already received their second booster dose.

Those who were given Covid-19 booster shots mostly belong to the vulnerable population which includes health-care workers, senior citizens, and people with immunodeficiency.

The PinasLakas campaign is the current administration's way of boosting the country's vaccination programs and initiatives, targeting at least 23 million individuals or 50 percent of the general population.

Apart from the eligible population, the campaign also aims to vaccinate at least 90 percent of A2 Senior Citizens according to DOH OIC Maria Rosario Vergeire.

"To reach our targets, we are committed to making vaccines easily accessible to all. We are all grateful for the reopening of our markets and schools, and we should remember that we are able to reopen because of the life-saving benefits of our vaccines," she said.

The DOH targets to accomplish their goal until Oct. 8, 2022 or within the first 100 days of President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. CDC-CD

Grandest Mutya ning Angeles set

ANGELES CITY — The city government will hold the grandest and most prestigious Mutya Ning Angeles 2022 on Dec. 8 at the Grand Palazzo Royale.

So announced Mayor Carmelo "Pogi" Lazatin, Jr., adding that the grand winner will take home ₱1-million worth of prizes.

"This prestigious event has been one for the books for Angeles City, being a symbol of the city's resiliency," Lazatin noted.

The 30th year of the prestigious pageant will be co-presented by the Beautéderm Corp. led by its president and CEO Rei Anicoche-Tan.

The working committee held its series of meetings Aug. 2 at the city-run cafe Kapebaluan.

Lazatin's chief adviser IC Calaguas, executive assistant IV Regina Manuel, and city tourism officer in-charge Anneleen Antonio-Sugui are the heads of the working committee with city economic development and investment promotions officer Irish Bonus-Llego, and ACTO consultant Cecille Flores-Sanchez as members.

The GFP Productions of Gerome Esguerra, Frederick Policarpio, and Poklong Guina will also assist the city's prestigious event with Marlon Tuazon, Rosette Ramos-Biag, Marna Dagumbay-Del Rosario, and Cecil Carreon.

"We are happy to announce that after the two-year hiatus of the MNA, we will finally see Angeleña women back on-stage — flaunting their beauty and wit," Manuel said.

Apart from this, Antonio-Sugui said that local wardrobe will also be showcased in the upcoming pageant.

"Ang utos po ni Mayor Lazatin, lahat po ng gagamiting official wardrobe sa MNA ay Angeleño made," the city tourism head explained.

To recall, the pageant was created in 1992 after the Mt. Pinatubo eruption. Its first coronation night was held at the Holy Angel University with Crisanta Delfin as the first title holder. Angeles CIO purpose of this occasion is to give due recognition to the vital role played by our Filipino seafarers towards the development of the Philippines as a maritime country."

The bishop said that PD 1094 was also inline with the International Maritime Organization's World Maritime Day celebrated on the last day of September that connected NSD to PD 1560 of then President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo.

Under PD 1560, three lead government agencies — Maritime Industry Authority, Philippine Coast Guard and Philippine Ports Authority — alternately spearhead the celebration of National Maritime Week.

"This piece of legislation, crafted during the administration of former President Ramos, is indeed a historical legacy to seafarers, their families and to the maritime world," Santos noted.

He said that on Sept. 25, 2022, the country will celebrate the 27th National Seafarers' Day when they will honor the late President with a minute of silence nationwide.

"The seafarers and their families, the welfare service providers, the maritime world and stakeholders acknowledge that P.D. 1094 is a historical moment. It has helped not only to raise awareness of the 'blue economy' but above all, to make everyone more aware of the sacrifices that seafarers go through to move the around 90% of the goods in the world," the prelate said.

"Our heartfelt gratitude to you, former President Ramos, for your great contribution to seafarers and their families," Santos concluded.

The solon lamented that despite the "high toll fees collected from motorists, NLEX seems remiss in maintaining the roadworthiness of the

Just the latest in the flourishing food chain earlier established in SM Baguio, SM Manila, SM Grand Central, SM San Lazaro, E. Rodriguez, Boni Mandaluyong, Marikina City, Sta. Ana- Manila, Sherwood Taft, BF Homes Aguirre, BF Resort, RFC Molino, SM Bacoor, SM Pangasinan, and SM Santa Rosa. With more stores to open soon.

Ah, about that “but” – no more than a misnomer branding as one strategy to stir up curiosity and create buzz about the brand.

“Because we believe that if you can take away all the food in the world except one, you can get Everything...but... Cheese!”

EBC is home of the Cheese Fondue

Classic 3-Cheese Fondue consists of fried works – crispy, golden-brown, large onion rings, nachos, French fries and sweet, saucy, tender teriyaki chicken poppers – all surrounding the star of the cheesy show, the melted cheese fondue.

The special 3-cheese sauce mixture is made from a combination of double cheddar, mozzarella, and parmesan served in a soft, freshly baked bread bowl. The cheesy blend is balanced and just right in terms of its savory, salty and tangy taste. With PR desserts and delectable cakes to complete the Swiss experience. Have a taste of Swiss Chalet, Engadine Nut Torte, or Swiss Meringue Glace, which are also some of Switzerland’s gastro-nomic icons.

Combining the country’s rich heritage and its sweet tooth – the Swiss eat more chocolate than any other nation. And this could be reflected as most of the Swiss desserts are mostly made of chocolate. One of the highlights of the Swiss Food Festival is the Swiss Chocolate Cake, Swissotel’s own take on the signature Swiss chocolate, with a history springing back as early as 19th century. This very own recipe was created back when the process of chocolate making was still through grinding cocoa beans. For a long time, chocolate recipes were mostly for chocolate drinks, and its presence in cakes was only in the form of fillings and glazes.

Today, the Swiss Chocolate Cake is one of the most popular desserts in Switzerland, and made with 100% natural ingredients.

credit muna, may required height sa sidings, depende sa width at depende sa truck kung ilang cubic lang ang pwede nilang ilulan,” Pineda said.

The governor issued the order after meeting with officials of the NLEX Corp., Department of Public Works and Highways, and quarry operators and truckers at the Bren Z. Guiao Convention Center here on Tuesday, Aug. 2.

“Nire respeto po namin ang desisyon ng NLEX Corp. na limitahan lang ng hanggang sa 33 tons ang pwedeng papasukin sa Candaba Viaduct, dahil kailangan ding i-rehabilitate ang bridge, kundi baka mas malaki ang maging problema natin. Nakikiusap po ako sa pamahalaang nasyunal na sana po ay abisuhan din ang mga truck na nanggagaling sa Norte na sumunod din sa ipinatutupad ng NLEX Corp.,” he said after emerging from the meeting that tackled the Anti-Overloading Act (RA 8794).

NLEX Corp. is also set to implement today the rerouting plan for vehicles carrying loads above 33 tons. It suggested an alternative route via Gapan City in Nueva Ecija.

Pineda also urged other local chief executives from nearby provinces to strictly implement the anti-overloading law to prevent road damages.

“Nakikiusap po ako sa ibang governors, especially sa Tarlac, Nueva Ecija, at Bulacan na alam kong sira-sira na rin ang mga national road. Sana maghigpit din po kayo, dahil kundi, tayu-tayo rin po ang mamomoblema kalaunan. Nasasayang din po ang resources ng gobyerno, dahil two years lang, wasak na kaagad ang mga daan,” he said. Pampanga PIO
